Re: Medford Airport Property

To Whom It May Concern:

The Medford Airport has been the recipient of several FAA grants over the last twenty years. In receiving these funds, we had to sign assurances back to the FAA that all buildings and land on airport property will be used for aviation purposes only. This means that the buildings on the airport property cannot be used for storing anything but airplanes, airplane parts, or equipment associated with aviation.

If the owner of a building on airport land fails to comply with these assurances, they could be subject to fines by the Federal Aviation Administration and subject to losing their ground lease at the Medford Airport.

Sincerely,

Dea Mandevill
